

A Report on Patents, Copyrights, Trademark and its Protection

A Session by Mr. Ajith Kumar

A talk on Patents, Copyrights, Trademark and its Protection was done by Mr. Ajith Kumar, Advocate & Professor on 05/02/2016. Intellectual Property Right refers to the right over the intellectual activity in the industrial, scientific, literary or artistic fields. It gives the creator exclusive ownership of the product or article for a certain period of time. Consequently, recognition is given to the creator and the inventor and availability of original and genuine product are also ensured.

Intellectual Property Right is exclusive right is granted by government of India for protection originality of work of inventor. Simple intellectual property right is intangible creation of human mind. In this intellectual Property right includes in Patent, Trademark, Trades crates, Industrial design, Layout design and Copyright oriented rights. Intellectual property is an intangible creation of the human mind, usually expressed or translated into a tangible form that is assigned certain rights of property. Examples of intellectual property include an author's copyright on a book or article, a distinctive logo design representing a soft drink company and its products, unique design elements of a web site, or a patent on the process to manufacture chewing gum.

Intellectual property rights (IPR) can be defined as the rights given to people over the creation of their minds. They usually give the creator an exclusive right over the use of his/her creations for a certain period of time. Intellectual property (IP) refers to creations of the mind: inventions, literary and artistic works, and symbols, names, images, and designs used in commerce.

A patent is an exclusive right granted for an invention, which is a product or a process that provides a new way of doing something, or offers a new technical solution to a problem. It provides protection for the invention to the owner of the patent.

The Staff members present during the sessions

A trademark is a distinctive sign that identifies certain goods or services as those produced or provided by a specific person or enterprise. It may be one or a combination of words, letters, and numerals. A trademark is a distinctive sign that identifies certain goods or services as those produced or provided by a specific person or enterprise. It may be one or a combination of words, letters, and numerals.

The talk was interesting and beneficial to all those present during the session.